

ABSTRACT

5 A plurality of integrated circuits, each of the integrated circuits comprising a processor and non-volatile memory, and including code for running identical software processes, wherein each of the integrated circuits also includes secret information used by the software process, the secret information in each chip being located in a different location in the memory relative to a plurality of the other chips.